

DRASS Tecnologie has been working with H-ON consulting on the FMEDA analysis over the past 4 years. We originally had doubts that it may be difficult to save time when you have to match internal know how of your company with an external consultant, usually this takes a lot of time and recourses. However, with H-ON we found their competence, proactivity and availability unmatched and reliable. The biggest benefit our company received working with them was the refinement of our existing method and the new development of good procedures. We would recommend H-ON Consulting for professionalism, competence and the capability to match customers requirements.
