TechnoProgress is one of the largest Russian companies covering a range of services in the industrial safety sector. We chose a corporation with H-ON for their extensive experience in technical regulations and standard compliance. Advantages with H-ON included resolving issues, responsiveness of colleagues, simplified procedures, explicit negotiation on every detail and speed of feedback backed by extensive experience.

TechnoProgress has been providing its services since 1998, it is important to us to have a partnership with a company that understands the Russian culture, the specificity of our services, as well as the process of building long term mutually beneficial relationships. We would recommend H-ON as a company with world-level experience who work professionally and with a great understanding of their local market.
